Idonesia-Holland Still Argue Over West New Guinea Jungle

COLLISION AT 80 TIMES SPEED OF SOUND—Shock waves colliding at 80 times speed of sound make a rod of white light in this experiment in Boeing's new research laboratories near Seattle, Wash. The shock waves started from each end of the tube at 300 times speed of sound, slowed to 80 times by the time they thunderclapped in the middle. The short tube at right angles is for creating the very low vacuum necessary for the experiment. Boeing expects to learn more about ion and plasma propulsion systems from this. The shock here lasts only a small fraction of a second. (Central Press)

JAKARTA (UPI)—Is Indonesia prepared to start a war with Holland over the 160,000 square miles of jungle known as West New Guinea"

That seems unlikely despite heated declarations from the Indonesians calling for the overthrow of the Dutch colonial regime in the sparsely populated land they themselves call West Irian.

For more than 10 years, Indonesia has fought a hot and cold war of words with Holland over the area which lies just a few miles beyond the eastern bounds of Indonesian-held territory.

Just two weeks ago, President Sukarno unexpectedly slashed all diplomatic ties with The Netherlands and vowed to "liberate" West Irian "in a revolutionary manner"

Strengthens Forces

Earlier this summer, 2,500 new Dutch troops were added to the token force of 1,000 soldiers with which the Hague government manned its last colonial outpost. Twenty-four Dutch fighter planes were carried more than half-way around the world to give Dutch New Guinea an air force.

This, fiercely nationalistic Indonesia claimed, was tantamount to aggression Sukarno's government was further provoked when the Dutch said the move was prompted by "aggressive elements" in Indonesian foreign policy.

When Indonesia gained her independence from Dutch colonial rule in 1949, The Netherlands agreed to turn over West Irian to Indonesia following proper negotiations.

Talks Break Off

But these talks were broken off in 1950, and have never been resumed Indonesian appeals to the United Nations have brought no results.

The Hague announced recently that West New Guinea would be given its independence "within 10 years."

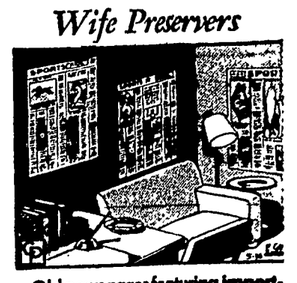

Although historically and geographically the area is not part of the Indonesian archipelago, Indonesia has laid claim to the Dutch-held portion of the 1,400-mile-long tropical island.

Australia, only a few hundred miles to the south, holds the eastern portion of New Guinea

Reports Live-Virus Polio Vaccine Is More Effective

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Dr. Albert Sabin, developer of the live-virus polio vaccine, said today once his vaccine is in production there will be no more need for the Salk polio vaccine

He said his vaccine, which is taken orally, has proved more effective than the killed-virus type and is a replacement for it and not just an "aid"

"We have established this fact in our Cincinnati tests," he said

Forty-three per cent of children here who received three doses of the Salk vaccine showed no immunity response to Type I polio, the most important type Sabin said All of these children show excellent immunity response to Type I after one dose of oral vaccine

Sabin's live-virus vaccine which tastes like cherry candy was recently approved by the U S Public Health Service and will go into production soon

Sabin said although it will be necessary to have both vaccines, it won't hurt

This city recently gave school children 240 000 doses of the Type I, II and III vaccines under a free program which saved parents an estimated $124,800.

The Wyeth Co, one of the pharmaceutical firms which will manufacture the Sabin vaccine, said at first the live-virus vaccine will cost about as much as the Salk vaccine even though Cincinnati officials said it cost just about 52 cents a dose for the tests

Maybe the process will be cheap some day" a Wyeth spokesman said but it certainly is not going to be cheap initially Our guess is that initially it may cost about the same as the Salk vaccine

The Salk vaccine cost patients between $3 and $5 a shot from private physicians

Wyeth said the primary reason for the higher than predicted cost of the Sabin vaccine lies in production difficulties We are talking about a living virus that must be produced with meticulous care to insure the utmost safety the firm said

Seneca Co. Testing Report Is Announced

The monthly production testing report of the Seneca Co Dairy Service Unit for the month of July, has just been compiled by Arvids Danenbergs, testing supervisor, and B E Gamble, Extension Agent The report indicates that there were 38 herds under the DHIA plan and 19 under the owner - sampler plan.

Under the DHIA plan the three high cows based on the pounds of milk produced during the month was a cow owned by Robert Raitz, which produced 2470 pounds of milk, one from the Arden Cleveland herd which produced 2387 pounds and one from the Ray Luhring herd which produced 2375 pounds The three high cows based on the pounds of butter-fat produced during the month, was a cow from the Robert Raitz herd which produced 109 pounds, one from the Arden Cleveland herd which produced 105 pounds, and a cow from the Pladars - Danenbergs herd which produced 96 pounds of butter fat during the month

The herd averages based on the pounds of butter fat for the herds of five to 25 cows indicated that the Richard Hayman herd averaged 46 5 pounds of butterfat the Henry & Keith Spitler herd 46 5 pounds, and the herds of Clarence Crown and Frankart - Schriner averaged 43 4 pounds of butter fat during the month For the herds of over 25 cows the Cletus Hopple herd averaged 46 5 pounds of butterfat, and the herds of Lester Norter, Paul E Wise and R C Walters and Son averaged 43 5 pounds during the month

The high herds of each breed were Holstein, Henry & Keith Spitler, Guernsey, R C Walters & Son Brown Swiss Richard Hayman and Jersey, J J Zeiber

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON OF THE WEEK

● Dictators Self-deceived

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for September 4: "God's Hand In History," Isaiah 10.5-34, 14:24; 14:24-27, - 37:21-37.

One of the best established facts of history is that dictators are always deceived — self - deceived

There is a law laid down on the very bed rock of the universe to the effect that every human being is born with rigat — rights that no government can grant, and rights that no government can take away except at its own peril

In all the history of the race there has never been even one dictator who has been able to pass his power on to his successor Every dictator has maintained himself in power by his own power

Must Deal With God

It was one of the convictions of the Hebrew prophets, especially Isaiah whose words we study in this week's Sunday school lesson, that every dictator will be compelled at some time to deal with God The worst tyrants the world has ever known have lived in triumph for a time, but at long last they are confronted by the Eternal

It is a fact, of course, that every dictator has accomplished some good Had Mussolini, for example, been content to lift the Italian people out of the bogs of discouragement and frustration, he might have gone down in history as "the greatest Roman of them all." It was when he set out upon a program of conquest that he began to write his own doom Even today the sensible German leaders concede that Adolpn Hitler rendered some useful services to the German nation during the early years of his brutal reign And propaganda to the contrary, the communist party in Russia has worked some economic and educational miracles for the Russian peasants who had lived for hundreds of years under a Czarist dictatorship

But of one principle every Christian can be absolutely sure The day will come when God will take over from every dictator who crushes the human spirit and outrages the human soul The "science" of history makes this very clear.

God Uses Ungodly Men

The ancient Assyrian Empire was one of the most brutal states ever to rise to power Its emperors knew nothing of morality, they despised mercy, and integrity they held in contempt if it interfered with ambition

The prophet Isaiah — an astute interpreter of history — was convinced that God was using the Assyrian empire as a tool in disciplining Judah, at one stage of history To the devout Hebrew of the time it must have seemed strange that the Almighty would use an evil nation to punish one that was actually more godly But Isaiah was convinced that the disciplinary process was going on and that a wicked state was the instrument by which the will of God was being done

He also believed however, that God would eventually get around to Assyria, and when that time came his judgments would be unsparing

For hundreds of years the Russian people lived under a dictatorship that was callous and uncaring The shocking thing about it is that every Czar was supported by some religious leaders who proposed to ally Christ with oppression In the end God had to use rebels such as Marx, Lenin and Stalin to end the wrongs In doing so, however we may be sure he has never condoned them in the evil they have done Eventually they will be summoned for judgment.

The possession of power does not make the use of power right It only imposes an inflated responsibility upon the possessor

The principle holds true whether it is applied to a politician, an industrialist, or a labor leader No one can exercise power without shouldering responsibility

Sheriff's Posse Hunts Step Son, Companion

PORTSMOUTH (UPI) - Clifford Riley, 67 was shot and killed today near his Scioto County home at Buckeye Hill

Sheriff Russell Burns formed a posse and went into a wooded area near the home in search of the victim's step son and a companion The boys are 15 and 13 years old

A neighbor told deputies that she saw the step-son shoot the man and then run into the woods Deputies had been called to the home Monday when the two boys went into the woods carrying a 22-caliber rifle.
